

instituto de arte contemporânea

A photograph showing the construction of a curved wooden walkway or bridge. The structure is under construction, with wooden planks and beams visible. A person is standing on the structure in the distance. The background shows a hazy landscape with mountains and buildings. A purple cloth is draped on the right side of the frame.