Dear Mr. Camargo;

Thanking you for a pleasant encounter during our stay in Paris last week, I hereby return the 3 photos you lent me. As to the project in Steinkjer, I am sorry having to tell you that the plans will have to be radically changed. The project, such as originally designed, amounts to about 70 millions Norwegian crowns, which has shocked the mayor and his nearest co-operators in the town.

Yesterday we had an emergency meeting and decided to cut down radically the size of the building. Consequently we don't know yet what shall happen to the hall where we have been thinking of your decorations.

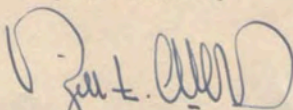

8 October we shall have another meeting and will then know a little more as to the outcome of the changes. You will be informed as soon as possible.

Our plans are to cut down the building to about 42 millions, may be even 36 millions. I do hope, however, that somehow we shall be able to engage you to do some decorative art.

Looking forward to seeing you at next cross-roads, I remain

Oslo, 28 September 1973

yours sincerely

Kjell T. Evers
