Dear Mr. Esmeraldo:

Several months ago I wrote to you and have had no reply.

Since I have not been able to come to Paris as anticipated, and will probably not be there now until the spring, I am wondering if you would advise me whether to return to you the pieces which I have, or whether you would prefer to be paid for them. If the latter is the case, please give me the price so that we can straighten out our own bookkeeping.

I will, of course, look forward to seeing you when I am in Paris.

With kindest personal regards.
