Dear Mr. Esmeraldo:

Your letter of 29 April was delivered today, 13 days via Registered Mail! The services of our respective Postal Departments, I think, are at fault for the misunderstanding that has arisen between us. On one occasion, several months ago, I mailed your prints to you but the package was returned stamped, "ADDRESSEE UNKNOWN". Now that I have your correct address, I shall mail the package once again and hope that it arrives at your home in good order.

In the meantime, I wish to apologize for the inconvenience and frustration to which you have been subjected. And, I hope, despite the fact that you have reason to feel otherwise, that we shall remain on friendly terms.

With fondest regards,

Sincerely,

Carl Siembab
