

instituto de arte contemporânea

A photograph of a white rectangular box, possibly a presentation case, containing a piece of graph paper. On the graph paper, there is a drawing consisting of several horizontal lines. A thick blue line runs across the middle. Above and below it are thinner blue lines. Yellow lines are also present, some appearing as thick strokes and others as thin lines, creating a layered or abstract composition. The box is set against a light gray background.